DISABLED VETERANS PUBLISH MAGAZINE

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 12.—Vocational training men of this district have started a magazine. It is called "The Vocate." According to M. E. Head, district vocational officer, its aim is to "cheer the vocational men who become discouraged, set straight those who have been misinformed, enlighten communities on the government's program for the disabled and enlighten the government agencies on the desires of the disabled men themselves."

The paper is financed entirely by the men. It is to come out monthly.

The Vocate is edited by 25 vocational men enrolled in the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri, and is printed by vocational men at the state Manual Training Normal School at Pittsburg, Kan.

LEMONADE SERVED TO ENVOY AT TEA-TIME

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The British Prime Minister, Lloyd George, had it all his own way, on the subject of afternoon tea, at least, during the meeting of the Supreme Council held in Paris in August. True to the old English custom, at five o'clock sharp, a sumptuously uniformed lackey bearing a large silver platter containing diminutive cups and tea pots, could be seen walking across the gardens of the Quai d'Orsay toward the Salle de l'Horloge.

Towering above the small cups in the platter, a tall glass filled with a yellowish liquid with the cracked ice jingling merrily against the crystal, caused no end of speculation among the spectators.

"This lemonade is for the Ambassador of a dry country," the lackey said in response to a query. "Now guess who it is?"
